

BBUC RACING DREAM TWENTY TWENTY

The allure of speed is universal and impressed into the human condition through centuries of survival and evolution. As our ancestors flourished, so too did our innate abilities to assess, invent, and build, resulting in the revolution of tools that shaped our world.

Chief among these is the bicycle, whose gearing and leverage enhances unremarkable human locomotion to reach incredible distances beyond even that of an albatross. It's only natural that they amplify our relationship with speed as well, inspiring the sensation of flight in those who dare to try. But we not can take off without difficulty, eventually discovering it takes a lifetime of study and humble acceptance of everyone's capabilities to truly feel free.

It was many years ago now that we began riding together as team BBURD, learning through setbacks, discipline, and unforeseen circumstances that there is as much joy in the afternoon light sparkling through the trees as the flight itself: that our own BrillliBrilliant Unicorn Racing Dream is simply the satisfaction of growth together.
